

Nick & Kaylen Cupp

Nick Cupp is a second year Masters of Divinity student at Candler. Although he was born and raised in Knoxville, TN, he moved to Atlanta in July of 2014, shortly after his marriage to Kaylen Cupp, June 6th of that same year. Before that, he attended Lee University in Cleveland, TN from August 2007 to December 2013. At Lee he received a Bachelors and Masters in Biblical and Theological Studies. He hopes one day to escape the classroom and become a chaplain for the U.S. Military.

When he is not studying for exams, he fills his time with books, board games, exercise, and especially his passion for improvisational acting. He is also a self-styled "extreme extrovert," and loves spending time with just about anyone, but his wife Kaylen most of all. The two of them met doing improv at Lee University in 2011. Like him, she believes a sense of humor is a virtue, and can often be found laughing with friends. He has been looking forward to this opportunity since April, and is excited to work with such a great congregation as Northlake.
